Planting the Seeds of AAC: Growing a Communication-Rich School Culture

What it is:

This five-part series will provide actionable strategies for cultivating a communication-rich school culture where AAC is embedded across environments, embraced by all staff, and celebrated through peer inclusion. Participants will explore leadership-driven initiatives, tiered professional development, classroom integration techniques, and strategies for sustaining long-term change. Join us to discover how to plant the seeds of AAC, nurture its growth, and create a flourishing, inclusive environment where all students can blossom as communicators.
